This department is engaged in separating the sheep of advertising, and of the service which backs up advertising, from the goats-and hanging a bell on the goats. It invites letters describing experiences-pleasant or unpleasant-with advertisers, whether they be manufacturers, wholesale houses, retail stores or public service corporations. It will print those letters which seem to show most typically how an advertiser's deeds square with the words of his advertising. Only signed letters, giving the writer's address, will be read. But the name will be printed or withheld, as preferred. Address: The Ad-Visor, The Tribune, New York.

THE other night, in the 42d Street theatre district, The Ad-Visor observed a man frantically looking in one pocket after another, while AUTO OWNERS ASKED his wife and daughter surveyed him pityingly and tapped the fover floor with their evening slippers. Before him stood a representative of the management survey explaining that as a reasonable person this theatregoer must appreciate that people couldn't be admitted without their tickets. A lot of good it did to be reasonable, with a spolled evening lurking immediately ahead! Thank goodness, there is one box office man big and human enough to be unreasonable, as this letter shows. He was the regular Park Theatre ticket representative. May he wear callouses on his thumbs selling more tickets and still more!

They to hand you herein ticket for last night's (Thursday's) performance, which I left home by mixtake, having taken the wrong ticket. I wish to thank you for the kind treatment I received at the hands of your representative at the lox effice of the Park Theatre. It is good to know that in some cases business dealings are not altogether a matter of system and that there is a faith in the honesty of human kind.

R. MAGID.

IN LOOKING through the July number of the Chilton Automobile Di rectory, I find that the word "Guarantee" is used in connection with a number of the advertisements, but in what manner the conterns with a number of the advertisements, but is what manner to will stand hack of their guarantees is a question. One concern says that their goods are guaranteed, and the guarantee ends there; another goods a little further and says that their goods will do the work to the buver's satisfaction, but they do not say what they will do if the goods fail nor what argument they will put up!

I found only five advertisements wherein the advertisers say in fail nor what argument they will put up!

I found only two advariances wherein the advertisers may in what way they will stand back of the guarantees which they give. The Thermoid Rubber Company, of Trenton, N. J., manufacturers of Thermoid Brake Lining, says: "Thermoid will make good or we will." The Moid Brake Lining, says: "Thermoid will make good or we will." The Champion Spark Plug Company, of Toledo, Ohio, says: "We guarantee Champion Spark Plugs to give absolute satisfaction, or free repair, replacement or your money back." J. F. Gorman Company, of 47 West placement or your money back." J. F. Gorman Company, of 47 West will street, New York, manufacturers of a Spark Intensifier, says: "Money back if not satisfied." The Motor Supplies Mfg. Co., of Minney Book, Minn., and the Twentieth Century Tire Protector Co., of Midothian, Tex., both of which concurns manufacture Tire Patchea, use the same guarantee. "Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded."

When a concern mentions the word "Guarantee" in an advertisement, why doesn't it go shead and tell in what way it will stand back of that guarantee, especially a concern in the mail order business? To make the guarantee more explicit takes very little more space in the advertisement and makes the purchaser feel safe.

Recently I have moved into an apartment on West 160th Street, and, consequently, had to have a garage in the neighborhood to keep my car in. I left my car in Wright's Garage, at 158th Street and Riverside Drive. I was in said garage for two weeks and one day, and during that time the price of gas as advertised on a sign in front and quoted that time the price of gas as advertised on a sign in front and quoted the time of filling my tank and signing for same was by employes at the time of filling my tank and signing for same was 10 tents. I left Wright's range as soon as I could get elsawhere, and upon their bill when submitted I was charged 30 cents for gas, less 4 in cents if paid by October 5, which made 25 is cents for gas which was quoted at 24 cents. Nothing being said at the time of filling that charge customers had to pay interest, and also storage, charge for the two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day was for three-quarters of a month, as their two weeks and one day, and one day was for three-quarte

I beg to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 10th in reply to your complaint of Miss Maude Bacon, which I am pleased to advise you the complaint of Miss Maude Bacon, which I am pleased to advise you the price billed was 30 cents, subject to 4% cents rebate for prompt payment, making the price 26% cents absolutely correct. The 24-cent sign ment, making the price 26% cents absolutely correct. The 24-cent sign who care to pay cash. Miss Bacon has the same privilege of paying who care to pay cash. Miss Bacon has the same privilege of paying the cash as anybody else does; on the centrary, she had same charged on my books which is the same price that everybody else is paying that has goods charged on our books. In other words, all gas charged is 30 cents, less discount of 4½ cents if bill is paid by the fifth of the month. Cash goods, 24 cents.

If a clothing store advertised man's suits at 324 and billed charge.

tr a clothing store advertised men's suits at $24 and billed charge customers $20, less $4.50 for prompt payment, it would be just as logical. How long would such a store last? The automobile supply business is honeycombed with sharp, arbitrary practices which could never live in any other line of legitimate business. Hence the glad cries of joy with any other line of legitimate business. Hence the glad cries of joy with any other line of legitimate business. Hence the glad cries of joy with any other line of legitimate business. If a clothing store advertised men's suits at $24 and billed char any other line of legitimate susiness. Hence the giad cries of joy with homes which are so near the Strand which motorists welcome a square garage man when they find him. And that it will not be necessary to provide they do—occasionally.

And the Sterling Company's letter, which might well be taken as a form letter for any concern desiring to make a thorough job of discrediting itself, sputters as follows:

Replying to yours of yesterday, permit us to say: Pirst, our advertisement is in no way misleading. Second, since when has the buyer been permitted to put a price upon the goods of the seller?

Third, the booklet treats of nothing else except birth control, and if you value your peace of mind in the years to come, you will heed its teachings. Fourth, we are entirely willing to refund your money; it is so small an amount that we are onite willing to give that amount outright in order to know where so small a man lives and breathes.

Outright in order to know where so small a man lives and breathes.

We wish you the most abundant success, but we can easily foresee that it will not be such as you desire.

Trusting that we shall have no possible occasion for dealings with you in the future, we beg to remain, yours very respectfully and sincerely.

STERLING CO.

There are two reasons for printing this correspondence. One is that it is refreshing to see an advertising manager so freely admit his wrong. We have an idea that the readers of his paper will be little in danger

The other is that with the prominence of birth control in the day's news we may expect a lot of unscrupulous concerns to prey upon the curiosity and ignorance of the public. Just remember that it is illegal to disseminate information on this subject. So it is much easier and safer for a concern to fool you than to get in trouble with the Federal authorities.
